Zoë Johnson In her happy days being known as an internationally mediocre ziner.

It didn't last... Things took a dark turn when her pants allegedly hopped into the trust bowl.

Cecropia Moth

Luxurious Iceland moss.

A photo submitted by Gluggagægir, the icelandic window-peeper.

At first glance
this appears to be a great schnozz
picking utensil, but tread
carefully as it could turn
you into a magical cow!

The following are a set of photos from when Annemarie, Miles and Django were asked to model for an Icelandic magazine.

Miles' new headpiece became a new fad in the days following its publication. The now popular Icelandic headwear has yet to take foot in the US of A.

"ICONIC"
-Hnetá(nut) Sealsdóttir, The Icelandmag

Annemarie became a well known local celebrity (once recognized for her discernible seaweed hands, in baggage checking)

Django sacrificed his well being (getting seaweed poisoning, which caused him to break out in song at inconvenient times) for the sake of this historical photoshoot.

A Bag from Bónus(a popular budget friendly icelandic grocery store), being suffocated by lava in Grindavik(a fishing town)

Tribute to Mahsa Amini, an 22 year old Kurdish-Iranian woman who died from injuries related to police brutality she endured for not wearing the hijab “correctly.”
